Death at Morning House

by Maureen Johnson

It seems the universe owes Marlowe a new summer job, and that's how she ends up at Morning House, a mansion built on an island in the 1920s and abandoned shortly after. It's easy enough, giving tours with a chance of getting bored talking about stained glass and nut cutlets and Prohibition. Except for the deaths...

Ghost Roast

Fifteen-year-old Chelsea, daughter of a paranormal specialist, risks her hard-won popularity and more when she is drawn into a paranormal romance after discovering her own ability to communicate with ghosts.

The Glass Girl

by Kathleen Glasgow

When 15-year-old Bella turns to alcohol to cope with the pressures of life, she soon finds herself struggling with a life-threatening addiction, in a candid, deeply compassionate exploration of the forces pushing young women toward addiction and self-harm.

The Last Love Song

by Kalie Holford

When a series of mysterious letters from her mother, country music star Tori Rose, leads her on a wild scavenger hunt through a Sunset Cove she never knew, aspiring songwriter Mia is brought closer to the real Tori Rose and the destiny she truly wants.

Lunar New Year Love Story

by Gene Luen Yang and Leuyen Pham

Val is ready to give up on love. It's led to nothing but secrets and heartbreak, and she's pretty sure she's cursed—no one in her family, for generations, has ever had any luck with love. But then a chance encounter with a pair of cute lion dancers sparks something in Val. Is it real love? Could this be her chance to break the family curse? Or is she destined to live with a broken heart forever?

The No-Girlfriend Rule

by Christen Randall

Hollis Beckwith isn't trying to get a girl—she's just trying to get by. And besides, she already has a boyfriend. Their relationship isn't particularly exciting, but it's comfortable and familiar, and Hollis wants it to survive beyond senior year. She decides to learn his favorite tabletop roleplaying game, but his unfortunate "No Girlfriends at the Table" rule means she'll need to find her own group if she wants in. Enter: Gloria Castañeda and her all-girls game!

Shut Up, This is Serious

by Carolina Ixta

Belén Dolores Itzel del Toro wants the normal stuff. But nothing is normal anymore. Not in her family. Not at school. And not with her best friend. She soon realizes that distractions are only temporary. What future is there for girls like her?

Sky's End

by Marc J. Gregson

To save the only family he has left from his murderous uncle, Conrad enters the Selection of the Twelve Trades where he overhears whispers of rebellion in the dark while enduring vigorous training, manipulative peers and the Gauntlet--a brutal final test.
